The Man With A Plan Q.Davis Is Making Waves

By Steve Fuller

In 2006 Quashon Davis hit rock bottom. He was going through divorce, he was broke, depressed, and he weighed over 300 pounds. He had stopped doing all the things he loved. He'd gave up basketball, wasn't doing any writing, and avoided his friends and family. One day, he ran into one of his childhood friends who was just releasing their first book. "I bought it to show support." Quashon said. "I read it and said to myself; 'I could do so much better than this.' In 2007 Quashon released Masquerade, which was hailed as one of the best self published books of the year. "I sold 800 copies of that book in the first three weeks." Masquerade is one of those cult classics that everyone loved. Its success made Quashon get himself together. He lost 70 pounds, finished school, and became a high demand event host.

Last November Quashon completed his second novel; The Dirty Circle. Although it's official release date was this year, he took 120 copies of it to the Circle Of Sisters in Manhattan. Little did he know that fans of his previous work scoped out his appearance and were ready. There was a line when the event opened and he sold every copy of the new book in just under three hours. The Dirty Circle has gotten amazing reviews, and continues to sell through Kindle and Nook.

Quashon hasn't stopped there. Apparently Dinomite Films has approached him regarding turning The Dirty Circle into a feature film. We asked him about this, but he's being very quiet about the whole thing. He has a red carpet fundraiser going down on May 31st, we can only guess that it's to raise money for this film feature, but he wont confirm it. One thing we know for sure, Quashon is a star on the rise. T.D.C. is a great book, and we'd love to see it on the big screen.
